Final instalment promises to subtly rearrange the fabric of space-time so that Brad Pitt's ankles turn into delicious blueberry muffins.

Melbourne, 16 February 2006

The Melbourne entertainment scene has been forced back into the trees to live like a damn dirty ape by a new LIVE variety show, The Pink Horse of Whimsy (PHoW).

PHoW showcases some of Melbourne's best established and upcoming comedians, musicians and filmmakers, and is hosted by the cheeky and energetic Danny Alder and over-educated half-wit Dan Walmsley.

Over the last four weeks, PHoW has thrilled and challenged audiences with its unique blend of comedy, improvisation, news, music, animation and film – a blend so unique and powerful that the only word that can be used to describe it is: MEGATAINMENT.

Next week's show is the final instalment for Season 1, and we have crafted a variety show of almost Byzantine complexity, that clicks and whirs like Babbage's Difference Engine before BING! Perfectly cooked entertainment.

We will have comedy from Darren Lever, Improv group Cut & Paste, and headliner Adam McKenzie. We're also extremely excited to have music by Man Bites God, and we'll be showing another short film by a great local filmmaker.

The final show is on at 8pm on the 22nd of February upstairs at Vibe on Smith (123 Smith Street, Collingwood) and entry is $5.
